

Smith Infirmary Changes Name.
The name of the S. M. Smith Infirmary at New Brighton, the oldest hospital on Staten Island, which was established forty years ago by Dr. Samuel R. Smith, is to be changed to the Staten Island Hospital. The reason given by the Board of Trustees is that the word "Infirmary" has often been misconstrued as an institution for the aged and infirm rather than a hospital, and as a result it has meant a loss of business.

THOUSANDS FLOCK TO SEE WAR RELICS AT ALLIED BAZAAR

To-day is British Day at the Allied Bazaar at the Grand Central Palace, where thousands are going daily to see the war relics sent for exhibition by the French Government. Miss Maggie Toye will sing this afternoon and Mme. Aida to-night.

Canada will be particularly honored by the British War Relief Committee.

The Duchesse of Connaught and Princess Patricia, with the wives of the members of the Canadian Cabinet, are to act as patronesses. The committee in charge of the British Booth includes Mrs. Newbold Le Roy Edgar, Mrs. Charles Greenough, Mrs. Ralph Sanger, Mrs. Charles Dana Gibson, Lady Colebrook, Mrs. Emily Price Post, Mrs. B. Guinness, Mrs. Judah Sears, Maurice Robinson and Mrs. Otto Kahn.

An autographed photograph of a painting by Queen Alexandra, two dozen pairs of socks knitted by the Duchesse of Connaught, and a silver bowl presented by the Duchesse of Sutherland are a few of the donations that will be sold at the British Booth to-day.

About 15,000 persons visited the bazaar yesterday, Italian Day. The strongest appeal of any exhibition is that of the war mementoes. Passing the attractive booths with their cool tea gardens and music, exhibits of rare tapestries and porcelains, the visitors stream on and up to the third floor to the grim war exhibition.

Beginning to-morrow the pictures taken on the battlefields which have been brought to this country by Stephen Gullatt of Harvard will be shown. They were taken with special permission from the French Government and show not only the work of the ambulance drivers close to the trenches and a number of actual war scenes but the individual work of well known American drivers.

Irvin S. Cobb has given the German pass that was given to him at Brussels three days after the fall of Louvain and was carried by him when he marched with the German troops through Northern France. This, with the original copy of H. G.

Nature Often Needs Help to Hold Health

The first requirement is to offer something that will not harm the sufferer by poisoning the system or creating a habit of appetite that may lead to a worse condition.

That is one reason why Eckman's Alternative, for more than twenty years a successful treatment in pulmonary, asthma and bronchial troubles, has attained success. It is absolutely safe to take. It contains nothing to poison or induce a habit. Yet its combination of calcium chlorid is such that most persons can assimilate it easily.

If you are suffering from the serious effects of a neglected cold or in the grip of deep-seated pulmonary infection, a trial is worth while.

Women Who Are Helping the Allies' Soldiers By Aiding Big Bazaar in Grand Central Palace

MRS. CHARLES H. DITSON

Wells' "When the Sleeper Wakes," given by Edward Selwyn: a robe embroidered by Mme. Modjeska and worn by her in some celebrated parts, given by Margaret Illington, to whom it was willed, and works of Kipling autographed by the late Clyde Fitch will all be sold at auction by Miss Margaret Mayo. Her booth is a reproduction of the ruined chancel of Rheims Cathedral. Many literary and theatrical celebrities are on her committee.

Craig Ward of Sir Beerbohm Tree's company acted as head waiter in the Cafe de Paris Tea Garden at the bazaar yesterday afternoon and evening. Lady Colebrook, Chairman of the Nine Allied Booths, who is showing the visitors how she made her first shell for the British army, using the same lathe which she used in the munition factory, was one of the visitors who had tea in the garden.

Percy Grainger played. Mrs. William Astor Chanler is Chairman of the Entertainment Committee, and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt Jr., Mrs. Charles H. Ditson, Mrs. Charles Dillingham, Mrs. John Blair, Mrs. Charles E. Oelrichs, Mrs. Charles Salgado and Miss Helen Hartley Jenkins are committee members.

Ernest Schelling, the pianist, has offered as his contribution his rare collection of the ruined chancel of Rheims Cathedral. Many literary and theatrical celebrities are on her committee.

MRS. Z. P. NIKOLAKI

for Hopelessly Crippled French Soldiers attracted a large audience to the Winter Garden last night, and it was said that the fund would benefit by a large figure. Some of the performers were Al Johnson, Melville Ellis, Irene Bordoni, Doraldina, Edgar Berman, Vivienne Segal, Wanda Lyon, Kitty Doner, Lew Brice and Laura Hamilton.

MRS. PENRYN STANLAWS

which he brought over with him in the early days of the war, comprises fifty specimens of the paper currency which sprang up over night in the cities of Europe.

Miss Josephine Osborne, Chairman of the booth of the American Ambulance in Russia, announced to-day that she will sail for France at the close of the bazaar to work for the re-education of the blind soldiers. Miss Sybil Eden, Field Secretary of the Franco-Serbian Field Hospital of America, who was with the Serbian army all through its retreat, is selling articles in costume at the Serbian booth.

Some of the most active members of the various allied relief societies who are co-operating for the success of the bazaar are: Mrs. Edward R. Hewitt, Mrs. William Astor Chanler, Mrs. Helen S. Woodruff, Mrs. Emily Price Post, Mrs. Charles H. Ditson, Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, Mrs. Henry Villard, Mrs. Mary Hatch Willard, Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt, Miss Anne Morgan, Mrs. Ernest Schelling, Mrs. Marion Cox, Mrs. Penryn Stanlaws and Mrs. Z. P. Nikolaki.

SPURNED SUITOR SLASHES GIRL AT STREET CORNER

Barred From Her House, Costanzi Urges Marriage and Uses Knife When Refused.

Because she refused the offer of marriage that came to her from Nicola Costanzi, twenty-six years old, of No. 157 Mott Street, pretty Josephine Luma, nineteen years old, a seamstress of No. 315 Bowery, is in St. Vincent's Hospital with her face slashed in several places and Costanzi is locked up on a charge of felonious assault.

The girl told the police Costanzi had been keeping company with her for more than two years when her father learned something about the man that did not please him. He ordered Costanzi to keep away from the house and Josephine yielded to her father's wishes and tried to avoid her former suitor.

This morning about 8 o'clock, accompanied by a middle-aged woman who has been acting as her bodyguard, Josephine was on her way to work when, at Prince and Crosby Streets, Costanzi confronted her and asked her to marry him. She refused. The man whipped out a knife with a three-inch blade and slashed her across the face. Then he fled, but was caught at Broadway and Prince Street by two teamsters, who beat him severely before he was rescued by Policeman Benner. Benner took his prisoner to the Mulberry Street station.
